

Published on STAR Center at UCSF (<https://star.ucsf.edu>)

Home > Welcome to the STAR Center

Welcome to the STAR Center

In 2018, we launched our free community talks. We welcome all community members, providers, caregivers and anyone who is interested in learning more about Autism Spectrum Disorder and our services. Please see our upcoming schedule below:

STAR Spotlight Series: Upcoming Community Talks

Please join us for our free monthly community talks on every 4th Monday of the month from 6:00-7:00 pm in the Langley Porter Auditorium (L-190).

-January 27th (Mina Park, PhD, BCBA-D, Tara Glavin, MA, BCBA, and a panel with adults on the spectrum)

Listening to Learn: Stories From our Young Adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder

-February 24th (Young Shin Kim, MD, MS, MPH, PhD)

Vaccinations and Autism Spectrum Disorder

-March 23th, (Katy Ankenman, MSW, LCSW)

Reflections on Raising a Neurodiverse Child: A Parent Panel

-April 27nd (Tara Rooney, MA, CCC-SLP)

Ipads, Tablets, and Devices, Oh My! The Wizardry of Technology and Communication

-May 25th (Tomoya Hirota, MD and Jordan Brooks, Pharmacy Student)

Medication for what? Neurodevelopmental Disorders and Co-occurring Problems

-June 22nd (Robert Hendren, DO)

Update on Current Integrative Biomedical Treatments for Neurodevelopmental Disorders

Langley Porter Auditorium (LP-190), 401 Parnassus Ave.

If you have questions about the STAR (Service, Training, Advocacy & Research) Center for Autism and Neurodevelopmental Disorders or would like to schedule an appointment, please email STAR@ucsf.edu ^[1] or call 415.502.3500

UCSF Main Site

© 2016 The Regents of the University of California

Source URL: <https://star.ucsf.edu/welcome-star-center>

Links

[1] <mailto:STAR@ucsf.edu>